Poetry.

The Unwise Choice.

Two young men, when I was poor,
Came and stood at my open door;

One said to me, "I have gold to give;"
And one, "I will love you while I live!"

My sight was dazzled; wo's the day,
And I sent the poor young man away;

Sent him away, I know not where,
And my heart went with him! unaware.

He did not give me any sighs,
But he left his picture in my eyes;

And in my eyes it has always been:
I have no heart to keep it in!

Beside the lane with hedges sweet,
Where we parted, never more to meet.

He pulled a flower of love's own hue,
And where it had been there came out two!

And in th' grass where he stood, for years,
The dews of th' morning looked like tears.

Still smiles the house where I was born
Among its fields of wheat and corn.

Wheat and corn that starngers bind—
I reap as I sowed and I sowed to th' wind.

As one who feels the truth break through
His dream, and knows his dream untrue,

I live where splendors shine, and sigh,
For the peace that splendor cannot buy;

Sigh for the day I was rich tho' poor,
And saw th' two young men at my door!

Selected Story.

A Chemist's Story.

I am a chemist. Many, doubtless, would find it difficult to define the duties of a chemist, if asked. To such, I say a chemist is a collector of facts. It is the business of his life to aid in unmasking the benefit of mankind, the good and evil hovering even in the air we breathe, burrowing in the earth we tread, mingling with the food we eat, swimming in the water we drink. Then, again, the law waits on the chemist. A human being has passed suddenly away. Somebody thinks there has been foul play. The chemist examines the body of the supposed victim. The law listens, hat in hand, to science. The suspected party trembles in anticipation. The oracular lips of the chemist moves; he names one of the fearful list of poisons. It is either strychnine, prussic acid, or that deadly oil of bitter almonds. The law then puts on its hat, takes the decision into court, and hangs the prisoner.

In short, the chemist must know the whys and wherefores of everything in the phenomena of life, as far as feeble man can know. The composition of the ocean he must be familiar with; he must be able to name the gases of the air, and capable of resolving the human body itself into invisible vapors. I am the occupant of this responsible and important position in the medical college of F——.

It was about 11 o'clock on a stormy evening that I bade good night to my student, Tom. Richards, at the door of my laboratory, at the south end of the college building.

"Good night, Professor," said Tom; "we are going to have a fall of hydrogen, oxygen, and a trace of saline."

Hydrogen and oxygen—in our nomenclature—is water.

"I hope," I said, in answer to Tom's playful words, "that it will not rain before I get home."

"Oh, no? it won't for an hour yet," said Tom.

"Then," I said, with a sigh, noticing that the mercury in my barometer was falling, a sign of a violent storm, "I shall certainly get wet."

Tom was very anxious to know what would keep me up after 12 o'clock, so I told him I was about to commence analyzing the stomach of Mrs. Johnson, whose husband now lay in P——jail, just across the road from the college, on suspicion that he was her murderer. Tom said that I had worked hard enough that day and deserved the night to myself. He spoke the truth; still I had delayed examining the woman so long, and the trial was so near at hand, that I could not in conscience put off the examination further, although I had heard several classes recite at the different public schools in the morning; had delivered a lecture in the college proper that afternoon, another in the laboratory that evening besides attending to my several duties as police surgeon during the day.

As Tom was passing out of the collegeyard through the gate, his head turned, bidding me good night, he brushed against a man standing with his back to the college and his face to the prison. The street lamp showed me that the man was in police uniform.

Re-entering my laboratory, I took down a glass jar from the shelf and sat down before my sink to examine it. The jar with which contained Mrs. Johnson's stomach, was covered by a cloth, duly tied with a string and properly sealed with my official seal in red wax. Breaking through the cloth, I lifted the stomach out with a dissecting hook and laid it on a white platter before me; then became busily employed in applying those tests to its contents by which we detect the presence of injurious substances.

An hour had passed since the departure of young Richards. I had carefully emptied the contents of the stomach into a number of bowls and basins. I had labored hard to discover traces of poison in all this, but had been unsuccessful. Joe Johnson, the suspected man, had been a student of mine a few years before. I thought him a good hearted, intelligent fellow, only a little wild, and really began to hope he might prove innocent; when, among the macerated food, I came upon a small, infinitismal white grain. By careful manipulation and the use of my magnifying glass, I managed to get this upon a piece of smoked glass and examined it.

I was then certain I had discovered arsenic, but to make assurances doubly sure I determined to apply a well-known test for poison. Accordingly I placed in the woman's stomach the usual acids and then turned on the blow-pipe flame, and presently there appeared the brilliant metallic mark, worthy of Cain's brow, which is the sign and signet of the poison.

"Yes," I exclaimed, as I saw the fatal blazon, "Joe Johnson is the murderer of his wife! With the evidence of that mark to back me no power on earth can save him from the rope."

"Do you really think so?" said a calm voice behind me.

I turned quickly and discovered a tall lank policeman, having red, weak and watery eyes, standing at my office door and staring in. His body looked as if it had been rolled out long between two hands, like a molasses candy stick. His nose was merely an elongated flesh pug, and his forehead was decorated with two red streaks instead of eyebrows. He had no expression at all in his face, and his policeman's hat was so large that it threatened to settle down on his sholders. His uniform reassured me, and I addressed him with some impatience.

"My friend, I suppose I am wanted to attend an inquest, or what is your purpose."

"No, Doctor, the man aint dead yet."

"Anything in the surgical way?"

I was police surgon as well as Coroner.

"No."

"Well, then, what am I sent for at this time of night?'

"Dont bother, Perfesor; the man ain't dead yet but they say he will be before morning."

"Are doctors attending him?"

"Oh, he's in good hands, Perfesser."

"What's the matter with him?"

"Well," said the official, "some folks say he's got so much knowledge into him that he can't live under it."

"Cerebral disorder, eh?"

'What?" asked the man.

"Brain disorder, I mean; something wrong here."

I touched my forehead, and so did he, as he said: "Aye, and I thought I'de drop in and tell you, if you was going to the station to-morrow, to take a look and see if he is post mortem or not. Besides I wanted to see where I could always find you in case of need."

I bowed and attributed his visit to a feeling of curiosity. He sat on the sink one rubbered foot thrown over the other, and wiped his nose with a dirty handkerchief several times, while his eyes wandered about like Christopher Columbus after discoveries. Finaly, he spoke like one who felt called upon to say something.

"Perfesser, there has been an accident this afternoon, terrible too."

"Ah," said I,

"Awful!" said he.

"What was it?"

"Nitro-glycerin explosion up in the iron mill a hundred fellow mortals busted!"

'Sad!"

"Affecting, very." Here he rubbed his mouth with the back of his hand. "Perfessor, what is that Nitro glycerin?",

"It is a very dangerous article," I answered, happy to display my knowledge "It has nearly twice the destructiveness of gun-powder, but unlike it, does not explede it. It will freeze. It is yellow and greasey. Its symbols in our nomenclature are C8. 1i5 (No.3) 3, O6."

"You don't mean to say so?" said the officer, interupting me, in dissagreeable tones in the very middle of a choice extract from one of my lectures. "Why, but you haven't told me how it does go off. If fire won't it, what—(hem)—will?"

I told him if it were pressed or anything fell on it, it would explode.

"Place it under the crusher of a cider mill, strike it with a hammer, let a weight fall on it from a hight—"

"Yes said the man, "and that rouses its volcaner, does it? How does it come, perfessor?"

"In little cans—why, like these!" said I, discovering that there was a little can of it on the marble sink, which I had carelessly neglected to replace in the cellar.—I then took a little of the glycerine, spread it on an anvil and struck it with a hammer.

A slight explosion and a flame burst from the paper.

"No, really," said the policeman, starting back. "I suppose, Perfessor, that ere can would make a mighty big nois if allowed to explode in here all at once?"

"It would blow the entire building to atoms," said I resuming my analysis of Mrs. Johnson's stomach.

"No!" I heard the policeman remark, in deliberate Yankee tones; "you don't say so!"

The next moment I lay on my back, a gag in my mouth, terribly frightened and sick at heart. Over me stood the policeman, and the first thing that functionary did was—looking me strate in the face—to take off his nose. He then rid himself of his eyebrows, hair and cap, and became a determined looking fellow with the eyes of a fiend and the nose of a Roman.

"So you think," said the matamorphosed in the tones of a gentleman, "that nothing can save Joe Johnson from the rope? Poor fellow! it does look like it. But my dear professor, Joe Johnson is fortunate enough to have in me a devoted friend, as well as a brother. I have undertaken to save him, and he shall be saved. In order to accomplish this end it will be necessary to remove from the face of the earth not only the stomach of this miserable wife, yonder, but also, my dear Professor—I'm sorry to be obliged to say it, for I believe you were my brother's teacher and friend—yourself as well." I saw that he was in deadly earnest.

"Your death must apparently result from accident—at least, so it must seem to the authorieties. My brother is in jail and they will not suspect him, and they certainly will not suspect me."

What terrible deed was in his brain hatching? Was he going to murder me? The hard earned knowledge of a score of years I would have given for power to utter one single cry. He took me in his arms and placed me in a chair, and bound me to it, and then from a side pocket he procured another rope.

Was it myself that was to hang instead of Johnson.

No; yes. He placed the line pully-like over one arm of a hanging chandelier. This was altogeather too slight a support even for one of my slender frame. I was not to be hanged then. To one end of the rope he attached a weight, and raised it, by pulling the other six or eight feet from the floor. The loose end he secured to the sink. Was he mad? Did he mean to draw me under this weight and send me out of the world in a novel way by letting it fall and dash my brains out? To the sink end he attached a long, yellow string. Under the weight, on the floor, he placed the can of nitro glycerine; I recgnized the yellow string; it was a fuse, and it would burn in sixty minutes. It would run across the marble slab—there was no hope of igniting any substance that would warn my friends.

"Do you begin to see through it?" asked Joe Johnson's brother.

I believe I cursed him with my eyes. I could only breath through my nostrils, and great veins were swelling and growing hot in my forehead.

Drawing a match from his pocket he lighted and applied it to the fuse; that little tyrnat that gave a man an hour to live, and killed him at the end of it—that little irresponsible terror that, less merciful than Providence, told the man the second he was to die, if fright and horrow spared it to himself. Slowly the flames crept, snake like, around the twine.

"In an hour," said the prisoner's brother, "you will be in heaven or hell. I will watch with you for half an hour, and the other half you will spend alone."

He sat down some minutes in a chair, watching the flames. Then he arose and took a piece of porcelain, with the murderer's name thereon, from the table and shook his head gloomily.

"I am chemist enough to know it is arsenic," he said. "Yes, those bright metalic eyes, a betrayal of the guilty! Science, thou wouldst kill my brother—thou shalt save him. Let us see in whose hat ds thou art most powerful. Here is a name who, by thy aid, bids the poison sprite uprise and write in brilliant characters a foul confession on this piece of porcelain. But behold, O science! it is no sooner writen than by the word the whole confession and thy chosen servant are annihilated. Let the good professor use his chemicals; the bad brother only asks a little can of nitro-glycerine."

I heard the speech indeed; but, great heavens; it was my eyes and not my ears that were busiest then; for beneath the table covered with a crimson cloth, and which I faced, appeared the face of a child. The hair was rumpled, and the blue eyes were just opening from sleep. The intelligent forehead was wrinkled strangely. It was my boy Billy. I was afraid he would cry "papa." If he did, the implacable man would add the murder of the child to the father.

But my boy did none of this. He had, I suppose, crept under the table unknown to me, and had fallen asleep there. I tried to tell the little fellow to hide again and wait for the final half hour, when my tormentor would be gone. Whether he understood me or not, aided by what he heard, I do not know, but he quickly withdrew his little head, first kissing his little hand lighily at me, and then shaking his fist at the schemer watching so beligerently his dumb fiae agents.

The half hour wore slowly away. O heavens! what agony did I suffer? Not for myself, but for my child. A slight noise might discover his presence; the match might run its tether sooner than was expected; he might be murdered or blown to atoms.

The fuse burned on—on. The half hour is up. The brother of the murderer rises to go. Joy!

"Commit your soul to God's keeping," he said. "You hold the evidence of my brother's guilt—nothing can save you now."

With that he turned to take his hat from off the table covered with the crimson cloth, beneath, what hid my priceless boy. Something attracted his attention! He held out his hand and leaned forward. I thought he had discovered my boy. No; he was lifting something in either hand—the wires of the electric battery. In another instant my boy had leaped from under the table, and was turning the crank fast furiously.

The murderer's brother was in the power of my boy. He could not drop the wires; he was helpless. How my boy cried for help! The old college rung with his voice. The prisoner's brother added his voice to my boy's in his agony. He begged, he beseeched—all his nerves were racked—great waves of galvanism leaped, surged, trembled and jarred over every sensitive nerve and fibre. Still my boy was inflexible, and shouted, and turned faster. Unperceived upon the marble, in track of the burning fuse, was a pool of inflamable oil. In an instant a great length burned away. It would last just five minutes, and no more!

"Father!" shouted my boy, "if no assistance comes, this villain must die with us. I dare not let him free. Help! help! help!"

Thank God! But some one else did. The fuse is burnt up. The rope is on fire—the nitro-glycerine! The door opens; Tom Richards, on a midnight visit to the sick, has heard the cry; he comprehends all; seizes the can in his hand; the weight descends indeed, but not on the death-dealing oil. No; down it goes, through the office floor—down, down, like an evil spirit, to give back a dull metallic echo from the stones of the cellar beneath.

We are saved!

Joe Johnson, the prisoner, was hanged; but his brother remains unpunished by the law, for he stabbed himself with a knife, and thus escaped the haugman's rope.

Miscellaneous.

An Aged Preacher.

The Xenia, Ohio, Gazette, July 9th, says: "The pulpit of the Second U. P. church (Rev. J. G. Carson's) in this city, was occupied on Sabbath last by Rev. Dr. Heron. It became somewhat known on Saturday evening and Sabbath morning that this aged and highly respected divine would that day preach, most probably, his last sermon; and as many of his friends desired to hear him once more, the church was filled with an interested and attentive audience. The Dr. is about 85 years of age, and, we understand, is the oldest minister in the U. P. connection. He is very infirm. Sight and hearing have both nearly entirely failed him. The 'earthly house of this tabernacle is ready to be dissolved.' It is, however, only the 'eathly' house that is in ruins. He required the assistance of Dr. Wilson to ascend the pulpit steps, and to rise when the time came for him to commence his discourse. It was about one hour in length, and was full of the genuine 'morrow' of the Gospel. The Doctor appears to have lost none of his intellectual vigor. His powers of memory are truly remarkable. His Scripture quotations, in support of his positions, which were numerous and frebuently lengthy, were given entirely from memory, without the least hesitation, and always with perfect accuracy."

Intemperence makes monsters out of parents. Recently, in England, William Green, a Coventry workham, was tried for the murder of his daughter, four years old, by a slow process of starvation. Prisoner's eldest daughter said he had allowed the family only three shilings a week for food, and spent eighteen shillings a week in drink. The jury returned a verdick of manslaughter, and Green was sentenced to ten years' penal servitude.

The New York papers note that Horace Greeley has arrayed him self in a new suit. The material is tweed.

The Philadelphia libary building, an ancient pride of the Quaker City, is to be sold to the Government.

Nasby's Last and Best.

Sad news from "Confederate Cross Roads" (which is in the State uv Kentucky). Elder Pennibacker is no more. The Greeley movement killed him. So says the Rev. Nasby, who further particularizes:

"He never wuz capably uv understanding it, and at first refoozed to yield to it.

He refoozed to by one uv the white hats wich I brot from Cincinnati, and Bascom wuz forst to take stern measures with him. Nary drink, Elder, till it goes under that hat!" That fetched him. He put it on.

"'I'm a Dimocrat,' sed he, sadly, with a puzzled look, 'and I find, akkording to my candidate fur President, that I'm a hoss thief, a liar, a perjurec villin, a slum, a harlot, and that I'm bought with British gold. I ain't a harlot, and never wuz, and ef I've been bought with British gold? Good Hevins! I shel go mad!'

"And the wretched old saint, who wuz afflicted with a mind witch wuzn't calkelated to grasp the suttleties ov modern politix, wood rush out ov his house into the field, and calm hisself of communin' with nacher."

After the ratification meeting, which followed, Elder P. took to his bed and delirium set in. Nasby called upon him and was thus saluted:

"Parson, somewhere I've read an anecdote uv a man wich wus drunk, and wich, leanin up again a tree, vomited. While he was contemplatin the ejected contents of his stomick, a little dog came snuffin around, and the man saw him, and wus amazed. 'Thunder,' he marked, 'I know where I eat them crackers, I 'member with utmost 'stinctness where I got that bolony sassage, but—me ef I know where I ate that dog.' Parson, I'm in the same fix. I hev taken the Cincinnati emetic and it's worked. I know where I got my free-trade, I remember distinkly when I swallowed States rites, but I'm—ef I know where I took in that Greeley pup, with an Ablishin head and a high protective taraff tail. Parson, it's too much."

And here are Nasby's reflections over Pennibacker's demise:

"Thus died Elder Pennibacker, one uv my first friends at the Corners. He was stanch and stoopid. He wuz a bleever in States rites, in Ham and Hager, and in Democracy. He died from a severe attack uv supposin Horris Greeley to be ez honest ez he wuz himself. He wooden't turn Ablishnit for no offic, and he spozed that Horris wuz still the same old heathen that he allus wuz. He bleeved that Horris hed swallowed the Democratic party, and do wat I cood, I cood not make him understand that the Dimocratic party had slavered Horris over with the Presidency and swallered him. Poor old man! He don't understand sich pollitishens ez I do, or he wood hev knowed better and lived. He died uv stoopidity, a disease, wich, ef it wuz alluz fatal wood redoose our party to a mere nothin, noomerically.

"Deekin Pogram and I are administrators uv his estate. Ez Bascom hez a morigage on the farm for all it is worth, our dooties will be light. There ain't been a crop raised on the place since the emancipation uv the niggers, and Bascom hez furnisht him and his sons his likker ever since on tick. Most uv the property in this visinity is in the same fix. Mine wood be, but fortunitely I

A WORD TO OUR FRIENDS.

During the past month a number of persons from different parts of the District—persons strangers to us hitherto—have quietly dropped into our office and subscribed for the CAROLINIAN. Some of these have told us that they heard of our paper and were told it was decidedly the best published in the State; and others, that they have lately seen occasional numbers of it and were so pleased that they had concluded to subscribe for it. These facts satisfy us that with a little exertion our paper could be introduced into hundreds of families in this section of the State who have never seen nor read it. We are satisfied that many of these would willingly, nay gladly have it regularly visit their firesides, were it but once introduced to them. Indeed we feel certain that it is possible to increase the circulation of the NORTH CAROLINIAN one thousand more in this District—that there is at least one thousand persons in these Eastern Counties that have not suberibed for it who could be easily induced to do so.

Now, it is desirable that this be done—desirable in several particulars. It would enable us to add to the attractions and usefulness of our paper; it would benefit the cause in which we are engaged by bringing the principles underlying it—its facts and truths right home to a larger number of the people; and it would benefit them, especially those not able to take more than one paper, by keeping them posted with the affairs of the country, the progress and position of parties, and by inducing habits of thought and investigation, the certain fruits of reading.

Well, how is this to be done? How are these very desirable objects to be accomplished? We cannot attend to it, for unlike the "traveling editors" of too many local journals, we devote our time and attention to the interests of our patrons and readers. Instead of filling up our paper, "pell mell," without regard to system or brains, we pay considerable attention to system, and a great deal more to the selection and preparation of matter that will benefit and interest our readers. In short, to edit and supervise a paper such as we make the CAROLINIAN occupies the most of our time. To those who advise that we employ a competent person to canvass, we reply that such a person is very difficult to get, especially at a salary that we can afford to pay.

Now, allow us to make a suggestion. This may be accomplished without any of this difficulty and expense. Let each one of our patrons—especialy those who endorse the conduct and principles of the NORTH CAROLINIAN, constitute himself a Voluntary Agent and embrace the first and every succeeding suitable opportunity to introduce this matter to such of their neighbors, acquaintances, and friends who do not but should take it, and prevail upon them to order it sent to them at once, seeing to it that the subscription is promptly remitted. Now is the time. The people need a paper, many of them want one. See to it friends that they get the NORTH CAROLINIAN. We care not what their political proclivities are, once get them to take and read our paper and they will not be without it.

"When we look around in this country what do we see?—Gratz Brown.

A few weeks ago if we had looked in the direction of New Haven we would have seen a candidate for the Vice Presidency as "tight" as a brick.

VICTORY!

The Old Flag Still Waves.

THE PINE TREE STATE ERECT.

MERRIMON OBLIGED TO THROW UP THE SPONGE TO "OLD TOD" WHO IS MASTER OF THE FIELD.

The Republican State Ticket Elected by over 2000, a Gain of Over 7000.

Elect 3 Congressmen, a gain of 1, and make a gain of 45 in the Legislature.

KUKLUX AND TAMMANY ROUTED.

GREELYISM AND DEMOCRACY DEFEATED AND THEIR GRAVE DUG DEEP AND WIDE.

HURRAH FOR GRANT AND WILSON

Victory has perched upon our banners. After a few days of great exultation, anxiety, pain, and finally grief, the Democrats have given up the contest and the Republicans hold the field—the victors of a hard fought and well earned battle. We elect TOD R. CALDWELL Governor by a majority of over 2000 votes, a gain of over 7,000; we carry our entire State ticket; notwithstanding the Democratic gerrymandering of the Congressional and Legislative Districts, we make gains in both—large gains in the latter, and we settle the question that North Carolina is Republican and that she will cast her electoral vote for GRANT and WILSON.

We feel that we have cause for rejoicing. Our noble North Carolina has done well. On her soil the first Declaration of Indepencence was made! On her soil JEFFERSON DAVIS held his last Cabinet Council and the Rebellion dissolved! On her soil has been won the first great Victory of the campaign that is to make us a still more united people. She has pronounced in advance the verdict of the Nation!

> "Freedom's battle once begun,
> Bequeathed from bleeding sire to son,
> Though baffled oft, is ever won."

OUR FACILITIES FOR MANUFACTURING PURPOSES.

There are few places so admirably adapted for manufacturing purposes as Elizabeth City, and we know of no locality more favorably situated so far as all the advantages needful for the successful and profitable prosecution of enterprizes of this kind are concerned. We raise the finest Cotton in the country; we have an inexhaustable quantity of the very best Timber; we are in the midst of a section of country especialy adapted for Agriculture, with a population who make this department their vocation; and our outlets to market are excellent. And yet with all these advantages for home manufacture and home consumption, what are the facts? We send abroad. We send abroad our Cotton, our Lumber, our Corn, our Wheat—everything we produce to the North to be manufactured, paying for the shipping of the raw material there, and then paying the expenses of carriage of the manufactured article back a gain!

Now this wont do. It must be changed. The subject is one of interest and importance not to our town alone, but to this entire section of country. The truth is, we have been unwise. The course we have been pursuing has been a mistaken one. To continue it will prove not bad policy only, but a ruinous one. We repeat, it must be changed.

Just reflect a moment. Here we have the elements of developement—the material to build us up in wealth and comfortable independence within reach, right at home, and yet we do not use them. On the other hand we are sending all our raw material abroad, selling them at the lowest figures and allowing others to realize the profits from them.

Now comes the question: Can a people or a community ever grow up and occupy a truly independant position so long as they pursue a course like this? Where is the instance? If the people neglect to make judicious use of the means placed within their reach by the bountiful hand of Nature for the purposes of developement, of wealth, of greatness, they are justly punished if they remain cursed with poverty, and are obliged to "dig and hoe" as the servants and pack horses of their shrewder and wiser neighbors.

This subject is one of deep interest to us. We are anxious to see our beautiful town built up and improved, and the valuable resources of our country developed. We feel confident that material abundant for this purpose is in our midst and around and about us. Let us use them.

Among the orators sent into this State for the Democratic ticket was Senator TIPTON of Nebraska. He had three brothers-in-law, a nephew, and a son appointed to office, and tried to have another son appointed to a valuable consulship. He is opposed to nepotism, and for that reason will not vote for GRANT, and is making windy speeches for GREELEY.

Another disappointed man has turned suddenly over to GREELEY—we mean Gen. BANKS. Two things have changed and "soured" him. His constituents have brought him to task for his intemprance and immorality, and Gen. GRANT wouldn't give him the Foreign Mission he wanted.

ALL IS WELL,

The grand old North State stands erect. The victory achieved by the Republicans is a decisive one. Considering the opposition and the influences brought to bear against us it is a wonderful triumph. The Democrats, having control of the Legislature, prepared and planned for this very campaign. In addition to various other acts, the objects of which were to check the onward march of Republicanism, they attempted to intimidate by a new registration law and to bewilder by changing the manner of voting. Always before, voting in this State has been done in a single box in each precinct, and the Republicans in order to give the colored voters some guide, had been accustomed to print their tickets upon paper of some distinctive color, and to ornament it with some device, such as an eagle or a cotton bale. The Democratic Legislature destroyed these guides by enacting that the officers elected should be voted for in four separate boxes, and that all tickets should be upon white paper and without device. The object was plain. On the eve of the election, two notorious scoundrels—WOOD and BLUMENBERG—were sent into the State to manipulate the stealing of registration books and at precincts where there was a large colored vote to challenge enough to change the result. The Democratic law permits evidence to be offered on the day of election in support of the challenge, and an hour can be wasted on a single case. Both in the Second and in the Fourth Districts a wholesale challenging was planned and carried out, and there is no doubt it resulted in disfranchising several thousand Republicans in the State. On this subject a correspondent of the New York Times says:

This is a new species of fraud invented by Tammany for the latitude of North Carolina. Wood and Blumenberg had plenty of money, and there is little doubt it comes of a subscription of $10,000 to the Liberal Republican Committee by A. T. Stewart. A gentleman who claims to have seen the letter is positive about its contents. He says Mr. Stewart enclosed a check for $10,000, and told the Committee, if it should find itself sorely pressed, to draw on him for $10, 000 more.

In addition to all this the State was flooded with "Liberal Republican" orators, white and black, to demoralize and divide the Republicans, but fortunately for the cause of Truth and Right, their grand orations were wasted on listless ears. The Republican column stands firm, not a break in the line; every deserter's place has been made good, and the recruits of the Democracy from the ranks of those relieved by Amnesty are counterbalanced by gains of "good men and true" to our ranks. "All is well."

A WORD ABOUT HOME INDUSTRY.

How common is it to overlook the most important facts, and especially is this so in reference to the encouragement of Home Industry. All desire to see their respective communities thrive and prosper; but while they acknowledge this they pay too little heed to the fact that the surest way to promote the material interest of the community is to encourage Home Industry. We now more particularly refer to the encouraging and employing home mechanics, home artisans home artists and home printers.

Let us explain. If you want a carriage, and if there is a competent carriage maker in your place, engage him to make it; if you are about to build a house, employ a home carpenter to do the work; and so of every branch of industry. This is the course prompted by common justice as well as common seuse, and in its general adoption we should hear much less complaint of "hard times," and scarcity of money, and slow debts. The secret of prosperity is in having plenty of useful work for all who are willing to do it, and certainly the more there are the better. A lazy man is an excrescence on the body politic; but a man who is willing and anxious to work, and cannot get employment, is a more unpleasant spectacle.

In one sense, the more a people can live within themselves, that is the more they can produce and manufacture all that the necessities of life require, the more prosperous they will be. Every carriage that is imported, when it can as well be made at home, abstracts the cost of the manufacture from the general home wealth; and every dollar that is paid to the mechanics of other places is a detriment to the general prosperity of the home community.

To carry the idea further,—it is equally true in reference to Printing and Newspapers. Is the man a friend of Home Industry,—nay is he a good citizen who takes his job work off to the City when the same can be done at home? And further; is it not his duty to patronize his home paper in preference to the paper published abroad? True he may get the distant paper a trifle cheaper, but then he sends his money out of his neighborhood and district to be spent for the benefit of the one abroad. There is a principle here too little thought of. It is a principle which if generally adopted would prove of great benefit to every community. Encourage every department of laudable Home Industry.

The ladies give a reason for marrying for money that they so seldom find anything else in a man worth having.—Exchange.

Nonsense. Better far that a young man have pluck, energy and good habits than money. The latter without the former is ruin, but with the former the latter will in due time come. In nine cases out of ten the young men who start with money end in poverty, while those who begin by "paddling their own canoe" arrive at harbor with boats full laden and safe.

The Ku Klux and Tammany "hand clasping" over the bloody chasm didn't carry the Old North State. Our people want no sham, no pretense. They are after the real, the earnest, and the true.

Young ladies at Cape May complain that the "Flirtation Walk" there is too brilliantly lighted up at night.—Ex.

Let them change their quarters to Nag's Head.

HON, JOHN POOL.

It cannot be denied that JOHN POOL is to day the representative man of the Republican Party in this great State. No man is no fully identified with its principles, its purposes, and its efforts, as he. No man has contributed so much in bringing about its achievements and triumphs in the South. Nor is this all. The people always know where to find him.

He never falters. The country is never in doubt as to his opinions and purposes. In all the contests of his time his position on all great public questions, has been as clear as the sun in a cloudless sky.

JOHN POOL has few equals in this country. Intellectual, eloquent, and courageous, his is a character destined to organize and lead. No reverse can crush his spirit nor defeat reduce him to despair. Equally erect and dauntless in prosperity and adversity, when successful he moves on to the accomplishment of his purposes with more resolution; when defeated he rallies his broken band around him, and from his eagle eye, darts along their ranks the contagion of his own courage. Yet higher honors will be his. Mark what we say.

HOW THE DEMOCRATS WERE TO CARRY NORTH CAROLINA.

Another of the means by which the Democrats were to carry this State were the following:

"GUARD THE POLLS.

"South Carolinians, Tennesseeans and Virginians, of the counties bordering on North Carolina, it is your duty to aid your brethren of the Old North State, in this their hour of trial. You can render great assittance by attending the polls on the day of election, and guard them against imported voters. Many schemes are on foot to carry the State by the Administration party, the most outrageous of which you can frustrate. Attend the polls, all who can, on the day of election, and spot the votors who will be imported for the occasion."

This advice appeared in the Columbia (S. C.) Phœnix in July before the election. We should like to know how men from the border States were to know who were and who were not legal voters in this State. It was a game transparent with fraud. The design was not to protect the polls firm frauduleut voters whom they could not possibly know, but to vote themselves and thus help to accomplish their purpose.

INGRATITUDE.

We have always looked upon ingratitude as a sin—and one of the meanest sins at that. We always despise the wretch that, warmed into life or reared into notice through the kind intervention of another, turns around and is the first to strike that friend a blow. But the world is full of such instances. And there are instances illustrating it in this State, of men who have all their lives been under the deepest obligations to Hon. JOHN POOL now heading the hounds who are barking at his heels and trying to howl him down—men owing all their success and advancement to the aid and influence he has given them, embarking in the contest to "strike him down."

> "Ingratitude, thou marble hearted fiend.
> More hideous, when thou showest thee in a friend,
> Than the sea monster."

OUR GAINS IN THE LEGISLATURE.

The political complexion of the last Legislature was: in the House 77 Democrats and 40 Republicans. This gave the Democrats 59 majority. The Legislature will now stand about even in the House with a small Democratic majority in the Senate. We have made a gain of near 50 in the Legislature. Good.

GENERAL JOHN A. DIX is a lifelong Democrat, a man of unquestionable patriotism and probity of character, a man of distinguished public services, and a man who knows Horace Greeley thoroughly. Maintaining his integrity of character, he has declared that he can not support Horace Greeley for the Presidency because of his personal unfitness. There are others who are as firmly convinced as General Dix that Greeley has infirmities of character and a susceptibility to bad associates which would make him a public peril if he should be elected; but who are sacrifiring their integrity and doing all they can to plunge the country into peril by supporting him.

An Administration which has reduced the national debt $332,000,000 during the past thirty-nine months and at the same time reduced taxation to the enormous amount of $249,000,000 and also made the peace expenses of the Government less per capita in currency than they were under any former Administration in gold, is the Administration which the people will continue four years longer by re-electing President Grant.

"The Norfolk Virginian is a humbug" say all the Greeley Democrats about here. Relying on its reports of the recent election, many of them were induced to wager and lose. The truth is every Greeley organ from the Tribune down has done a good deal of tall lying these past two weeks, and many a poor gullible Democrat has been shamefully imposed on and deceived.

CARL SHURZ trying to wheedle Republican into the support of GREELEY by promising to give him the German vote reminds one of that other Mephistophiles who took the Saviour aside and promised him a great quantity of real estate, while at the same time the poor devil didn't own the dust that stuek to his hoofs.

Gen. Stokes of Tennessee, has declared for Greeley—Tribune.

Gen. STOKES is the gentleman who was found guilty of over drawing from the Government, was prosecuted, convicted and dismissed from the public service. Of course he is for Greeley.

President Grant is happy. Since the organization of the Greeley party he has been relieved of half the pressure from office-seekers. It is no small boon to be rid, all at once, of the hungry horde who have gone over to Greeley.

This country does a cash business now. That is the reason why it cannot "trust" the Democracy, which has gone into bankruptcy, and is impudently seeking "credit" through another party.

Law, liberty, order, low taxes, equality before the law, and the education of your children, are the principles of the Republican party.

Our Washington Letter.
No. 2.

Aug. 5th, 1872.

The letter of Chas. Sumner endorseing Greeley and the N. Carolina election have been the leading topics of interest in this City for the past 8 days.

REVENGE AND JEALOUSY,

Can only be assigned for Sumners apostacy. No one who has known of his malignant attacks on the President will doubt that these two causes are not what have impelled him to this course. Good men will only regret while contemplating his 20 years' labor and its results, that there is a doubt of his sincerity, and that all this heretofore seemingly disenterested labor in a noble cause was but the labor of self-love and self aggrandizement.

THE CONVENTION OF THE VETERANS OF THE WAR, to be held in Pitsburg, Pa, on the 17th, of September, it is predicted, will be largely attended, as the officers at the headquaters of the Grand Army have made every effort to call together all the subordinate commanderies of the country.

July 21st, was the anniversary of the

and it is not too late to say a word in connection with this event, especially in view of the political change which our foe of that day have undergone in their new departure and nomintaion of their inveterate foe as their candidate for President. Just before the war was offerd by them for Greeley's head without a body, and now they are servily licking the dust from his feet and making rosy his pathway to the White House. His career of inconsistancy blends in well with theirs for, duplicity, treason, and infamy—an infamous army of traitors to their country and their principles. This picture teaches the good nature to follow the lead of their victorious old commander, Gen. Grant, as the devoted Isrealites followed the ark of the covenant, and to "Beware of this grizzely troop" S, T. B.

100,000 DOLLARS REWARD

Judge Settle.

The Democratic press of the State is very jubliant over the defeat of Judge Setile by Gen. Leach. They pursue Judge Settle with a bitter, malignant, devilish hate, and all for the reasons that he, being a member of one of North Carolina's best families, has seen fit to act politically according to his own feelings and convictions. This same hatred is to be found in individuals of the opposite party. They cannot refrain from exhibiting it on all occasions: and some of them are so far devoid of gentlemanly instincts as to parade it in the presence of Judge Settle himself.

Gen. Leach's majority is 240, in a district that has a registered democratic majority according to the vote on which he was elected two years ago, of over thirteen hundred. Judge Settle has made a gain of nearly eleven hundred votes. Democrats themselves say they despise Gen. Leach and would not vote for him if they could shake off their party chains. Leach's weakness has been fully demonstrated in this election. There will probably be no chance for him again. Democrats will not risk the district on him in another race.

The frauds committed by poll holders in the different townships in this district when properly ventilated will show that enough votes were rejected by them on the most frivolous pretences to have elected Judge Settle by a handsome majority. It is reported that in Caswell county alone over two hundred voters were denied the right of suffrage on the most flimsy pretexts. Colored men who had been temporarily absent in Virginia laboring on a railroad were refused the right to vote: and some who had voted were bound hands and feet at the polls and carried off to jail on the charge of illegal voting. Seven or eight men were rejected at the boxes in Greensboro who clearly had a right to vote.

Judge Settle has been defrauded out of his election by brow-beating, intimidation, corruption, and (according to a report which comes from Gen. Leache's friends), BRIBERY. Judge Settle has won a great victory. He has overcome eleven hundred of Leach's majority, thus getting the verdict of the people in his favor He made an able and thorough canvass, and had the satisfaction of showing up to the people, in his true colors, in such a way as was never done before, the shallow pretensions, and demagogical arts of that Eolian gentleman, called by Fauntleroy Taylor, Gen. Jeemes Madison Leach.

If the frauds have been such as reported, we predict that Judge Settle will represent this district in the next Congress. —New North State.

Indians in Council.

Through letters received at the office of the Suprentendant of Indian Affairs in this city, we learn that the council now in session at Fort Cobb, on the Washata, is likely to prove entirely successful. Representatives are present from the Apachees, several bands of the Comanchese, the Arrapahoes and Cheyennes, and a delegation is expected from the Kiowas. The general tone of the Indians is peaceful. The Cheyennes announce themselves as on the side of peace. The entire Arrapahoe and Cheyenne tribes, with the exception of Medicine Arrow and four lodges who are with the Kiowas, were at the Cheyenne agency on the 23d iestant, making a city of thousands. It is said to be the largest gathering of the tribes ever held.

We regard the administration of Superintendent Hoag and his worthy subordinates as the most successful one with the Indians of the Southwest we have ever had. There has been a steady improvement in the condition of the Indians; they have been growing more more peaceful; and there is a total cessation of those constant charges of corruption which had become chronic in the Indian service. President Grant's Indian policy has worked well in this quarter and the country would save nothing in this respect by a change.—Lawrence Kansas Journal of Aug 1st.

A Turn on Vance.

Vance made a good mot on the jackass in Newbern that commenced to bray when Vance commenced to speak, and Vance said: "Look here, my Radical friend, I didn't agree to divide time with you." But a noble young lady sitting hard by and eternally devoted to the Democrats, said to her beau: "Look here, he oughtn't to have said that about that jack for he is a Conservative jackass, because a Conservative rides him." The last seen of Vance he was apologizing to the jackass.—Hillsboro' Recorder.

A. M. Puett, chairman of the National Executive Committee of the Labor Reform party, has issued a call for the reassembling of the Convention in Columbus the 21st of August, each State to be entitled to full representation under the original call.

The Roanoke News contains an account of a shocking accident by fire, which occured at Seabord Northampton county on the night of the 4th inst. The dwelling house of Mr. George W. Harrison was burned, two persons, a Mrs. Baxton and a Mr. Harrison perished in the flames.

"How much a peck for potatoes?" asked a gentleman in market on Monday morning. The price suited him, and he was about to purchase, when a thought struck him. "Wait a moment, my good woman," he said. "I fear those potatoes were picked on Sunday." "No sir, they were not," she replied, "but to tell the truth, they grew on Sunday!"

On the 6th there was at Harrisburg, Pa., a terrible tornado and hail storm, a mile wide, occured at 10 o'clock at night, which carried off the roofs of the State Capital Hotel, Brant's Hall, and many private buildings. The gable end of the German Reformed Church was injured. Hundreds of trees were blown down, thousands of panes of glass broken, and telegraph wires prostrated.

Blanton Duncan is about to commence the publication of a pure Democratic paper in Louisville, Ky. The Georgia straight-outs have called a Democratic Convention to meet at Atlanta, August 20. Ex-Governor Patton, of Alabama, is about to announce himself an anti-Greeley candidate for Governor. Governor E. Lindsley, the present incumbent, opposes the election of Greeley.

A correspondent from Raleigh writes: We have elected our State ticket by over 2,000 majority. We think we have the lower House of the Legislature, and the Democrats have the Senate. I think they have a majority against us on joint ballot. We were cheated by the Tammany rogues that came down here not less than 10,000 votes. If they had not supposed that entirely sufficient they would have increased it to any required amount. We were not suspecting it, no such villiany having ever before been practiced in this State. Not until Monday befora the election did we think seriously of it."

It has been customary in some parts of the South and West, we believe, to adjourn Court upon the arrival of a circus. They found out at a Terre Haute the other day that it was not entirely prudent for banks to follow the alluring example. A circus procession passed the Prairie City Bank, with the usual splendor of gilded chariots and fanfare of trumpets, and straightway all the officers of the institution weut forth to see. They returned to find that a little side-show had been enacted for their benefit by some enterprising thief, who had effected the mysterious disappearance of about six thousand dollars of the bank's funds. It is probable that the next circus which passes through Terre Haute will number fewer financial gentlemen among its admirers.

WILLIAM LOYD GARRISON, in a column and a half letter addressed to Charles Sumner, reviewing the Senator's recent communication to the colored voters, says: "I propose to speak with equal plainness, and as earnestly to counsel my colored countrymen not to follow your lead in this matter, but as voters to move unitedly for the re-election of Grant, for every consideration pertaining to their safety and happiness, to the cause of equal rights and the furtherance of national peace and unity."

FRED DOUGLAS has replied to Sumner's recent letter to the colored people. Referring to the San Domingo Commission dinner, to which Mr. Douglas was not invited, a fact of which Mr. Sumner complains, Mr. Douglas says in effect that he was not a member of the Commission, was not with them when they called at the White House, and has no right to complain. Douglas says that, with the exception of Lincoln and Sumner's, "no man in high position has manifested on all occasions and in all places, a more entire freedom from vulgar prejudice than Ulysess S. Grant."

THIS WEEK'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

We call attention to the following new advertisement to this issue:
New York advertisement.
That Convention.
Pleuing Mill.
Reynoldson Male Institute.
Kenmore University.

Local and Personal.

☞Senator GRANDY is "recreating" at Nag's Head.

☞The "Alexina House" at Nag's Head is crowded this season.

☞Dr. MCINTOSH will accept our thanks for the natural curiosity sent us.

☞We notice the arrival of A. P. CONE Esq., of Wellsborro Pa.

☞The Colored Methodists have been holding a Bush Meeting near town.

☞Hon T. J. JARVIS was in town this week. He declares that he won't swallow GREELEY.

☞NEWTON R. EDSEY, Post Master at Rose Dale, this county, died on the 1st inst., aged 72 years.

☞The vote for Treasurer of Perquimans county should have been 627 for JOSIAH NICHOLSON and 329 for C. WHITE.

☞The dwelling house of GEO. D. POOL Jr., in the country, was destroyed by fire on Friday night. It caught from the Cook House.

☞Our friend ELIJAH PEELLE, of Perquimans, sends us some unique specimens in the potato line. One, besides being singular in shape, weighed 2 lbs. 9 oz.

☞"There is a time for all things" said a crusty old fellow to his wife. "I'll believe that" answered the "better half," "when you pay for your newspaper." Sensible advice.

☞The brick work on the new Hotel is about finished. It was put up by EMANUEL DAVIS of this city. It is a neat job—one that will bear inspection, and one that does "EMANUEL" credit.

☞The friends of MERRIMON here about are not the merry men they were on the reception of the first reports. The dwindling of their 12000 majority down to worse than 0 has had a depressing effect on their spirits.

☞Our Murfresburro correspondent is mistaken. The action of the Baltimore Convention ought to satisfy him that the Democratic leaders have sacrificed all their former independence and that, like a wheel barrow, they now go where they are pushed.

☞The great political gale that swept over the State on the 1st inst., has so completely taken the breath out of our co-temporary here that he has failed to "put in an appearance" since. If this August wolloping thus affects our neighbor what will become of him in November?

☞The figures rolled up by the people in the late contest has hopelessly dazed the Arithmetician of the Greeleyites here. We understand he seriously contemplates abandoning political cyphering and of devoting his attention hereafter more exclusively to the more congenial fields of literature.

☞The letter of our Columbia friend is received. Our reply is: If Nature has not furnished the party refered to with a full modicum of brains, it is out of the question for us to do it for them. It is our province only to give the facts and arguments. This we have done frankly openly, and clearly.

☞For sale cheap—a lot of Democratic Roosters. Call at any of the Greeley Printing offices from Elizabeth City on up to Wilmington or Raleigh. As their feathers now droop like faded flowers, and as the "game" has all been taken out of them, they will be disposed of cheap. Who wants to buy?

☞Some of our readers have doubtless had occasion to skin a live eel. The operation is unpleasant to his eelship and causes him to squirm. No one blames him for it. It is thus with a few of our neighbor Greeleyites. They have just undergone a political skinning, and they squirm most prodigiously. But it is nothing to what they'l feel when we tan them in November!

☞Our correspondent "Fair Play" starts out with mistaken premises and consequently his conclusions are not just. An error in the former leads him into a blunder in the latter. We place our advertising patrons all on the same platform. The local business notices in our paper are paid for. Every man engaged in a legitimate business can have it noticed by complying with the terms. We cannot make flesh of one and fish of another. The conditions are open to all. This is what we call "fair play."

☞There are some people who always want to be on the side of success. These are seldom apt to commit themselves until they become satisfied which is to be the winning side. A week ago we heard one of these "Hurrah for Gr——," "Who do you mean?" we asked. "Can't say until after the election whether I will add EELEY or ANT," said he. We saw him yesterday and he says he meant "Hurrah for GRANT!." While this may not be flattering to the fellow's iudependence it is a straw indicating the direction of the popular breeze

☞Had to take it all back—the boastful Norfolk Virginian. It crowed too soon and deceived its readers. How some of them now curse it!

☞Why is it that our friends are so careless in various lacalities about sending notices of Marriages and Deaths occurring in their respective neighborhoods? It frequently happens that events of this kind occur and we have no notice of them. It is not a matter of local interest alone; but we have many readers in other counties and the West who were once residents here, and to these all notices of this character are particularly interesting. Shall we be obliged to jog the memory of our friends again?

☞A young man called at our office the other day and did an act evincing his good sense. He requested us to send the NORTH CAROLINIAN to one of his young lady friends, paying for it in advance. He said that he desired to make her a present and he could not think of any thing more valuable than a copy of our paper for a year. Now if this is not the best investment that our young friend ever made we are much mistaken. The young lady will not only admire his good taste, but will appreciate the present. When he left we were Two Dollars richer, and at the end of the year his fair friend will be much wiser in consequence of the good sense of her beau. Let others follow his example.

☞"It is a foul bird that defiles its own nest." So says an old proverb, and it is a true one. It is rarely that men are so blinded by malice or passion as to be driven to vent their fury upon themselves; but there are exceptions to the rule. The viper when blinded by its own venom, will strike at every rustling leaf, and when goaded to madness, will strike its poisonous fangs into itself and die a victim of its own madness. And so with men who yield to the fiendish impulses that dictate the destruction of their fellows who surpass them in the race of life. When impelled by such malignant motives, the poisoned chalice they prepare for others, usually returns to their own lips with deadly effect.

☞Other parts of the State had speaking aid from abroad; we had none. The Democrats had "fixed up" our Senatorial and Congressional Districts to suit themselves, feeling sure they were safe, and our State Committee left us to our fate. We at once resolved to make a gallant fight. The NORTH CAROLINIAN opened up with all the force and power it could command, and our home speakers rallied to the aid of our candidates and worked faithfully in the canvas. Among these were AUG. M. MOORE Esq., of Edenton, WILLIS BAGLEY Esq., of Hertford Hon. C. C. POOL, of Elizabeth City, Hon. J. W. ETHERIDGE of Roanoke Island, J. J. MARTIN Esq., of Williamston, and others. They all did good service. Starting with the odds against us, we came out of the contest saving the Congressman, gained four Senators and seven Members of the House, and making a gain on the State ticket of over two thousand votes! We feel a little pride in the result.

☞Out of deference to the feelings of the "Great Defeated" we have concluded not to publish the account of the late Salt River excursion from this District. Brother CREECY, if disposed, could furnish a graphic report—how the old Boat was crowded; how the unlucky aspirants for Congress and the Senate engaged private quarters in order to meditate on "Union Leagues," and "Judgeships," and "the instability of human virtue when confronted by temptation;" how he whiled away the tedious hours alternately with slate and pencil ciphering out election returns, and with

Bow and arrows

and how as they passed the Camden shore the redoubtable Colonel hurriedly sprang aboard to keep out of the way of the conquering hero "SIM JONES." If our editorial brother fails to do this we fear the incidents of this remarkable voyage will be lost to history. We may be permitted to chronicle the fact, however, that as the boat left our wharf the crew were heard in melancholly strains, chanting the new Democratic dirge.

Oh Horace Greeley! is it so
That Democrats for you must go?
You've cursed us lo! these thirty years
And now they bid us give you cheers.
'Twill be our death right well we know
But down our throats the pill must go,
And when well down tis fairly crammed
We all must die and then be——d——d.

LOCAL PORT-FOLIO.

Gold—115. Wearing long faces—the Greeleyites. Merrymen no longer—the Democrats. Won't crow—the Economist's rooster. Can always be found—fault. Timid people—lovers about to "pop the question." Mean people—subscribers who refuse to pay for their papers. The best thing out—an aching tooth. A bad thing to keep—late hours. Not to be relied on—the statements of the Democratic papers. Never disappoints or deceives its readers—the NORTH CAROLINIAN. Glad—the men who didn't act on the advice of certain leaders of the White Hat party to bet heavily on Merrimon, Carter and Yeates.

Business Locals.

Fowler, on Water Street, has added Hats to his other line of Goods.

Always find a hearty welcome and "something good to eat"—those who go to Fulmers. It is a popular place to "feed" at.

Lowenburg & Jacobs, 35 Market square, Norfolk Va, return their acknowledgements to their North Carolina friends for their liberal patronage. They hope to retain a continuation of the same.

The most cutting stroke of sarcasm we know of is this: When Senator Sumner made his charge against President Grant that he was a great quarreller, a lady, upon hearing it, quietly remarked: "His wife has been able to live with him for nearly thirty years, and they seem to get along very pleasently and happily together."

Beware of Counterfeits!

JOB MOSES' SIR JAMES CLARKE'S FEMALE PILLS

are extensively COUNTERFEITED. Dishonest Druggists endeavor to sell the counterfeits to make greater profits. The genuine have the name of Job Moses on each package. All others are worthless imitations. The GENUINE Pills are unfailing in the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. They moderate all excesses and remove all obstructions, from whatever cause.

TO MARRIED LADIES

they are particularly suited. They will in a short time bring on the monthly period with regularity; and although very powerful, contain nothing hurtful to the constitution. A PERILOUS SEASON.—Glorious and delightful as the Summer weather is, its tropical heat is a severe trial to the vital powers. Even the strongest are sometimes prostrated by its effects. The common phrase applied to this condition of the body is "general debility." Now, general debility arises from, and includes a variety of ailments. The liver is more or less affected, the bowels are either constipated or too much relaxed, the stomach but half performs the work of digestion, the appetite is poor, and the spirits depressed. This is what is called general debility. It is a general disarrangement of all the physical functions, and requires as a remedy a medicine that will regulate them all. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is specially adapted to this purpose. Its general operation is not confined to a single organ. If the liver is affected, it restores its tone. If the stomach is torpied, it regenerates it. If the nerves are tremulous and weak, it braces and reinforces them If the mind, whice ever sympathizes with the body, is gloomy and despondent, it relives the difficulty, and soon brings the whole mechanism of the body into harmony with the laws of health.

There is no civilized nation in the Wescern Hemisphere in which the utility of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a tonic, coractive, and antibilious medicine is not known and appreciated. Throughout the Tropics it is considered, both by the people and the profession the standard specific. While it is a medicine for all seasons and all climates, it is especially suited to the complaints generated by the weather, being the purest and best vegetable slimulent in the world.

Beware of the Bitters made of acrid and dangrrous materials, which unscupulous parties are endeavoring to foist upon the public has no guarantee that they are not poisonous. Adhere to the tried remedy, Hostetter's Bitters, sold only in glass, and never in kegs or barrel

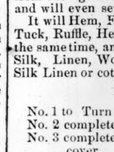
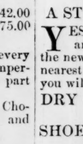
Horse and Cattle Powders.

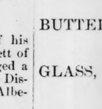


This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.

It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, GLANDERS, YELLOW WATER, HEAVES, COUGHS, DISTEMPER, FEVERS, WOUNDER, LOSS OF APPETITE AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. Its use improves the wind, increases the appetite—gives a smooth and glossy skin—and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine-looking and spirited horse.



To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Hollow Horn, etc. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk and cream twenty per cent. and make the butter firm and sweet. In fattening cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.



In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above diseases will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.

AGRICULTURAL, HORTICULTURAL AND DOMESTIC MATTERS.

Putting in Winter Wheat with a Drill.

From the middle of last Winter up to the present writing, accounts have received from almost every section of the country in regard to the superiority of the wheat crop, where the seed was drilled in, over that where the seed was sown broadcast and harrowed in. Doubtless there have been instances in which no difference could be perceived between the growth when the seed is drilled in or sown broadcast. Yet the testimony is, almost without exception, greatly in favor of using the grain-drill.

The chief advantage of drilling over broadcast seeding are. 1. The seed is distributed much more evenly by the drill than it is possible for a common laborer to scatter it by hand; It is a great art to sow grain well by hand; verry few men are able to do it. Many farmers who have sowed grain from boyhood, have never been able to distribute seed of any kind with satisfactory evenness by hand. They will get it on in streakes, so that when the young plants come np, in some there will be four times as many as there should be, while in other parts the ground will be nearly bare. Consequently there must be a loss from seeding too thick in some places, and too thin in others. 2. The grain drill not only distributes the seed evenly, but it is droped and covered at a uniform depth over the entire field, provided the soil is in a uniform condition, not alternately hard and mellow in places. When seed is harrowed in, much of it will be buried by the feet of the team quite too deep, especially where the land is mellow, while anoter portion will scarcely be covered. and another still will not be buried, and another still will not be burried at all. Consequently there must be a loss in the seed. Moreover, when seed is not planted at a uniform depth, it will not come up with desireable uniformity. When Winter grain is buried at different debths the plants will not endure the injury incident to freezing and thawing so well during the Winter. 3. When seed wheat is drilled in there is always a saving of at least half a bushell per acre. Besides this, it is less expencive putting in grain with a drill than broadcast. It would seem that the reasons in favor of using a good grain-drill for putting in seed-wheat are so cogent that every farmer who raises only one acre of Winter grain, would make an extra effort, at the approach of seed time, to put in his seed in the best and most satisfactory manner.

Care of Horses.

The London Horse Book says; All horse must not be feed in the same proportions, without regard to their ages their constitution or their work; because impropriety of such practice is self-evident. Yet it is constantly done, and is the basis of desease of every kind.

Never use bad hay on account of its cheapness, because there is no proper nourishment in it.

Damaged corn is exceedingly injurious, it brings on inflamation of the bowels and skin deseases.

Chaff is better for old horses than hay, because they can chew and digest it better.

Mix chaff with corn or beans, and do not give the latter alone, because it makes the horse chew his food more and digest it better.

Hay or grass alone will not support a horse alone under hard work, because there is not sufficient nutritive body in either.

When a horse is worked hard, its food should chiefly be oats—if not worked hard, its food should chiefly be hay—because oats supply more norishment and flesh-making material than any other kind of food; hay not so much.

For a saddle or coach horse, half a peck of sound oats and eighteen pounds of good hay are sufficent. If the hay is not good, add a quater of a peck more oats. A horse that works hard may have rather more of each; one that works little should have less.

Rack feeding is wastefull. The better plan is to feed with chopped hay, from a mainger, because the food is not then thrown about, and is more easily chewed and digested.

Sprinkle the hay with water that has salt desolved in it, because it is pleasing to the animals taste, and more easily digested. A teaspoonful of salt in a bucket of water is sufficient.

Oats should be brused for an old horse, but not for a young one, because the former, through age and defective teeth, cannot chew them properly; the young horse can do so. and they are thus properly mixed with the siliva and turned into wholesome nutriment.

The Ohio Farmer says more injury is done to carriages by greasing too plentifully than the reverse. Tallow is recommended as a better lubricator than lard for wood aletrees and castor-oil for iron; lard is apt to penetrate the hub, and work its way out around the tenons of the spokes and spoil the wheel. Just enough grease should be applied to the spindel of a wagon to give it a light coating. To oil an iron axle, first wipe clean with a cloth wet with spirits of terpentine and then apply a few drops of castor-oil near the shoulder and end. One teaspoonful is enough for the four.

Duration of Incubation.—Hens' eggs hatch in from nineteen to twenty-one days. Turkeys—from twenty-six to twenty-nine days. Guinea-fowls—from twenty-five to twenty-seven days. Peafowls—twenty-eight to thirty days. Ducks—twenty-eight days. Geese—thirty days.

CARBOLIC SOAP will certainly kill lice on fowls or chickens. We use Buchan's. Dissolve half an ounce in a quart of boiling water; when cool, wet their heads and necks with it. The lice die in an instant, and in half an hour the chickens are as dry and nice as ever.

FEED.—Corn or corn meal is the best food for fowls intended for the market; it is cheap, and contains a large per cent of fat and oily substances. Oat meal and middlings are cheapest and best for laying hens.

About 35,000,000 acres of land in the United States have been planted in corn this season. The total area of the corn crop nearly equals in extent the aggregate of all the other tilled crops in the country.

The vineyards on some parts of the Rhine are ranged in terraces one above the other; the banks all along on the sides of the hills being upheld by arches of masonary.

TO CLEAN SOILED PLUMAGE.—Confine the fowls in a small coop and cover the bettom with dry clean sand at least six inches deep; the fowl will clean itself.

The oldest artesian well in Europe is at Lillers, in the Pas de Calais, and from its mouth water has flowed uninterruptedly for seven hundred and forty-six years.

Gratz Brown writes from the West that he "was never in better spirits in his life." He has returned to his native Bourbon.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TO SPORTSMEN.—

The ubscriber would announce to his friends and the public that he continues at the old stand on Road street and keeps on hand a good assortment of Guns, Rifles, Pistols Sporting apparatus and also a fine selection of cutlery. He may at all times be found either in his store prepared to accommodate customers with New Goods, or in his shop adjoining, willing and happy to repair any article in his line of business.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE.

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

GEORGE D. POOL.

Real Estate Agent,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

In presenting my list of lands and other properties for sale, I would say that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalists and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where; and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the sociability of the people, in great fertility, and durability of soil, no section can equal it.

A railroad will soon be built to Weldon, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing, farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A Steam Saw and Grist Mill in the town of Nixonton 8 miles from E. City. This Mill has a fine wharf and store attached on deep navigable water, the engine is 40 horse power, and all in good order. It is one of the finest locations to be found any where for custom work, and for getting good saw logs easily and cheaply. Price $4,000 cash.

Adjoining the mill property is 40 acres of fine land on the River, with three houses, all for $1200. Near the same is a good two story dwelling and 13 acres of land for $2,000, and a good one story dwelling, with one acre of land for $300.

Also two fine farms in Pasquotauk county, 10 miles from E. City, within half mile of church, school house and post office. One tract contains about 400 acres, with fair buildings and mostly cleared, and the other contains 300 acres, with good two story dwelling, large barn, and other outhouses, both are offered at $20 per acre, one third cash, balance in one and two years.

Also one other tract in Pasquotank county, containing 116 acres, within one mile of the town with fine buildings, mostly cleared and in cultivation. Price $25 per acre, one half cash, balance in 12 months.

A valuable site for a hotel at Nag's Head, 40 miles from Elizabeth City, and 50 miles from Edenton. This is situated immediately on the Ocean, and is a famous Summer resort for invalids, and those seeking health, comfort, and amusements during the summer months. It is in direct communication by steamboats and railroad with all parts of North Carolina, Virginia, and the North: and is equal in natural advantages to Newport, or Cape May. Visitors flock to this famous summer resort by hundreds and thousands, and a large amount of money can be made by a hotel. A charter has been obtained from the Legislature of N. C., for a joint stock company to build the hotel. There is now an old hotel on the spot, which could be cheaply repaired and bought for $3.000. This hotel, though imperfectly kept, cleared the proprietor last season, over $3.000. For a man or a company, having some capital, this is one of the finest chances to make money at hotel keeping to be found anywhere. The early attention of the public is invited to this property.

A fine steam saw and grist mill at Hertford, the county seat of Perquimans County, N. C., 18 miles from Elizabeth City. This mill has a fifty horse power engine, now in good running, two pairs of best French burr stones, and two upright saws. The house has a brick basement, and the building is large and in good order. There is one and a half acres of land belonging to this property, and a good two story dwelling, and other out-houses. The section of country adjacent abounds in the finest yellow pine, cypress, ash, poplar, and other valuable timber. This property originally cost $15,000, and is now offered at forced sale for the low price of $3,500, $7,00, cash, and the balance in six equal instalments, six months apart each with interest.

A fine farm and fishery in same county. The farm contains 400 acres of the finest land, lies immediately on Albemarle Sound where the water is 12 miles wide, and 18 to 20 feet deep, has got buildings, and fine neighborhood. The fishery is on the farm and goes with it. It has a new seine 2,500 yards long, and all the necessary boats, buildings, &c., (which cost over $16,000 two years ago.) The fishery alone, of a good season, will make from 5 to $10,000 profit to the owner. This property is offered at forced sale for the low price of $20,000, $7,000 cash, balance on easy times.

A store at South Mills, in Camden county, 20 miles from E. City, and 20 miles from Norfolk, lying on the canal where steamers pass daily. A fine chance for merchandize. Store is large with dwelling above containing six rooms, is in first rate order, has office, kitchen, dairy, and other necessary outhouses. Goods to the amt. of $50,000 per annum can be sold here, and at large profits. A splended stand for a country retail store. Price $2,500—one third cash, balance in one and two years.

A valuable tract of land in Camden county, at South Mills, on the Dismal Swamp Canal, lying on the canal for two miles, containing over 900 acres of land—two-thirds cleared, and in a fine state of cultivation, with good buildings, &c.; balance in valuable timber. Price $12,000, one-third cash, balance in one and two years, interest from January, 1871. This is a valuable farm for corn, wheat, and vegetables, and being midway between Elizabeth City and Norfolk, and located where steamers pass by the door daily, is a desirable and cheap property.

A fine farm of 600 acres within six miles of E. City, one mile from navigable water, and the best cotton farm in the State. It is also well adapted to raising corn and wheat. This farm has a splended two-story dwelling upon it, large barn, 40 by 60 feet, a large number of outhouses, by splended trees and shrubbery, is in a strong Union neighborhood, and altogether the most desirable place in the county. A little over one-half of this land is cleared, and the balance is covered with the finest yellow pine, poplar, ash and other timber. Price $30 per acre—one-third cash, balance in one and two years with interest. Title reserved.

Sixteen houses and lots in Elizabeth City, with good dwellings, out-houses, &c. Prices and terms reasonable.

A valuable farm in Perquimans county, N. C. near navigable water. Has a fine dwelling-house with ten rooms, in splended order, with splended barns and stables—all in first rate order. The farm is very productive in corn, oats, wheat, cotton and clover. It is one of the finest farms in the State and is now in good cultivation, contains 585 acres of land, about three-fourths cleared and under cultivation. Price $10,000, one-third cash January 1, next balance in two equal annual instalments with interest at the rate of six per cent.

A farm of 370 acres 8 miles from town by water, and 12 miles by land, is offered for sale for $10,000 in easy payments. This tract of land lies immediately on the River which is 4 miles wide and washes the farm its whole length on one side, and a branch of the River one mile wide, binds it on one end. The land is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, peas, &c., lies high and dry, and is susceptible of the highest improvement. Fronting and looking over, as it does, two large sheets of navigable water, where steamers and sailing vessels are constantly passing, carrying freight and passengers to all parts of the country, its location and surroundings, are of the most fascinating and desirable character. There is a fishery on it ready for working a seine 2,500 yards long, and which commands a portion of both streams of water, and can be made immensely profitable. The price charged is low, and the purchase a very desirable one. The buildings consist of a good two-story dwelling and out-houses.

A desirable house and lot in the town of Elizabeth City on the corner of two principal streets, the principal one, and situated in the best business locality in the town. The lot contains about two acres of land, and the buildings consist of a fair dwelling three stories high, containing eight rooms, all in good order, another two story building with four rooms and pantries, dairy, smokehouses, stables, &c. The dwelling has a good cellar under it. There is room on the front lot to erect two good stores, and they would occupy the best stand in the town for merchandize.

A Farm of 200 acres within one mile of Elizabeth City, with good two story dwelling, large barn and stables, and all necessary outhouses, orchard of fine fruit trees, and a large number of ornamental trees and shrubbery around dwelling. This farm is on one of the most public roads in the County—is in a high state of cultivation—has fine and durable fences, &c. Altogether, it is the richest land and most desirable location, anywhere in the neighborhood of the town. Price $6000—one-half cash, balance in easy payments.

SUGAR OF MILK.

Patented July 23d, 1872.

A FARINACEOUS FOOD FOR INVALIDS AND INFANTS.

By the peculiar process in which this preparation is made, all the flesh forming constituents—EARTHY and SALINE elements of the grain are retained, with none of the STARCH, all of which beirg converted into Dextrine. It contains all the Lime, Sulphur, Phosphorus, Iron and Manganese for the animal juices, and Gum and Fecula for respiration and fatty tissue, with the proteine compounds (Gluten, Albumen &c.) from which nerve and muscular tissues are formed.

It is believed by the most intelligent men that much of the suffering, sickness and mortality of mankind is traceable to deficient or faulty nutrition. The same cause may also be assigned the frequent disapointment of physicians in the result of the action of most approved remedies.

We feel sure that this article will supply the deficiency.

What Horace Greeley Thinks of the Democratic Party.

EXTRACTS, RICH, RARE AND RACY.

Now that Mr. Greeley has become the leader of the Democracy, we present the following extracts from editorials of the New York Tribune, writen by Mr. Greeley during the forty years of his editorial life. They are refreshing, and will not nauseate Democrats who have lost all self-respect,—forsaken principle in their hunt for office,—and become first-class dirt-eaters. The extracts are as follows:

THE WHITE HOUSE DISEASE.

"Mr. Webster was not only a gentleman, but he had the elements of moral greatness: and he had his faults as well. He failed only in one respect; and in this respect I differ from him—he wanted to be President, and I don't.—Horace Greeley, in 1868.

OUR GREATEST MAN.

"We have seen our greatest man, Mr. Chase, making the same blunder. I have seen men who had the disease early, and died of it at a very old age."—Horace Greeley, in 1868.

THE FATE OF GEN. CASS.

"Gen. Lewis Cass died at 82, and up to the day of his death he wanted to be President. No one ever escapes who catches the disease: he lives and dies in the delusion. Being a reader and an observer at an early age, I saw how it poisoned and paralyzed the best of our public men, and have carefully avoided it."—Horace Greeley, in 1866.

THE GOOD SENSE OF GEN. GRANT.

"We, at least, in our day, have a President-elect who did not try to be President. He was elected mainly on that account."—Horace Greeley, in 1868.

THE ENEMY OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

"If the Democratic party were called upon to decide between Grant and myself, I know that their regard for what they must call principle would induce nine-tenths of them to vote against me. Why? I am a decided enemy of that party, even in its most respectable aspects."—Horace Greeley, in 1871.

PICTURES OF THE DEMOCRACY.

"Every one who chooses to live by pugilism or gambling or harlotry, with nearly every keeper of a tippling house, is politically a Democrat."—Horace Greeley.

IGNORANCE A DEMOCRATIC ALLY.

"If there were not a newspaper or a common school in the country, the Democratic party would be far stronger than it is."—Horace Greeley.

DEMOCRATIC ESSENTIALS.

"The essential articles of the Democratic creed [are] love rum and hate niggers. The less one learns and knows, the more certain he is to vote the regular ticket from A to izzard."—Horace Greeley.

WHO ARE DEMOCRATS.

"We thereupon asked our contemporary to state frankly whether the pugilists, blacklegs, thieves, burglars, keepers of dens of prostitution, etc., etc., * * * were not almost unanimously Democrats."—Horace Greeley.

DEMOCRATIC VIRTUES.

"To smoke is a Democratic virtue; to chew is that virtue intensified; to drink rum is that virtue in the superlative."—Horace Greeley.

THE DANGEROUS CLASSES ALL DEMOCRATS.

"A purely selfish interists attaches the lewd, ruffianly, criminal, and dangerous classes to the Democratic party."—Horace Greeley.

SIX IN A BED.

"This would amount to six in a bed, exclusive of any other vermin, for every Democratic couch in the State of New York, including those at Sing Sing and Auburn."—Horace Greeley.

THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATS.

"Point wherever you please to an election district which you will pronounce morally rotten, given up in great part to debauchery and vice; where voters subsist mainly by keeping policy-offices, gambling houses, grog-shops and darker dens of infamy, and that district will be found at nearly or quite every election giving a majority for that which styles itself 'the Democratic party.' Take all the haunts of debauchery in the land, and you will find nine tenths of their master spirits active partisans of that same Democracy. What is the instinct, the sympathetic chord, which attaches them so uniformly to this party? Will you consider?"—Horace Greeley.

REBEL DEMOCRACY.

"The brain, the heart, the soul of the present Democratic party is the rebel element at the South, with its Northern allies and simpathisers. It is rebel at the core to-day. It would come into power with the hate, the chagrin, the wrath, the mortification of ten bitter years to impel and guide its steps. It would devote itself to taking off or reducing tax after tax until the Treasury was deprived of the means of paying interest on the national debt, and would hail the tidings of national bankruptcy with unalloyed gladness and unconcealed exultation. Whatever chastisement may be deserved by our national sins, we must hope that this disgrace and humiliation will be spared us."—Horace Greely.

THE FEROCIOUS PROTECTIONIST."

"You only err as to the proper candidate. I am not the man you need. Your party is modestly Free Trade, and I am a ferocious Protectionist. I have no doubt that I might be nominated and elected by your help but it would place us all in a false position."—Horace Greeley to P. Doman, in 1871.

"THE BAYNOT LAW OF 1870"

"It is urged by the Democratic organs that the law is to be enforced in State and municipal elections. This is done to make it more obnoxions, if that be possible, to their party. But, unfortunately, this is an error. The law applies only to presidential and congressional election, though we heartily wish it could be made to apply to all others."—Horace Greeley.

THE KU KLUX LAW.

"I hold our Government bound by its duty of protecting our citizens in their fundamental rights, to pass and enforce laws for the extirpation of the execrable Ku Klux conspiricy; and, if it has not the power to do it, then I say our Government is no government, but a sham. I, therefore, on every proper occasion, advocated and justified the Ku Klux Act. I hold it especially desirable for the South; and, if it does not prove strong enough to effect its pourpose, I hope it will be made stronger and stronger."—Horace Greely in 1872!

ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S LINEL SUCCESSOR.

"Many will be surprised at the President's hearty endorsement of civil service reform [in his message of 1870;] but he has been there all along. The President's summing up of the leading objects of his policy, and especially his desire to secure a pure and untrameled vote, must appeal cogently to the judgement and affections of the American people. He is Abraham Lincoln's lineal successor; and the populor heart beats in unison with his administration and his efforts."—Horace Greeley in 1870
